Baseball Starts
King Alfonso Abdicates
An Admirable Will
An Eel, Our Relative

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE BIG NEWS in America is the official beginning of the professional baseball season. Seventy thousand watched the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox players pitch, hitting, throwing, sliding and running. Those are things that our forefathers did, their lives depending on agility, skill and strength. And, although we don't know it, that's why baseball interests us.

EUROPE'S BIG NEWS is the abdication of King Alfonso. He goes, and a republic rules Spain. It is only a thing to vote for a republic, another to make it go. Having a king, or no king, makes little difference.

England has long been, in reality, an actual republic, with a king drawing his salary and avoiding frequent elections. Some republics, on the other hand, have not been very republican, although they have had no king, with the possible exception of money.

THE WILL of the late Col. Friedsam sets a fine example of good citizenship. He provides generously for those dependent on him and related to him and gives to the public his magnificent and skillfully collected works of art that cost $100,000, and are worth double that amount.

He leaves the bulk of his large fortune to the public, to be spent by his executors for the young and "comfort of the old," words that express a beautiful thought clearly.

He leaves to J. S. Burke, vice president of the organization, who for years had helped carry the heavy load of business, a large interest in that business and the controlling influence in carrying out his philanthropic plans.

All of his life Michael Friedsam worked hard. He lived without ostentation or extravagance, and now leaves the result of his life's work to the people among whom he lived.

YOU PERHAPS never heard of a rare sea eel, which lives in the ocean and has for a scientific title a name as long as the eel. Nevertheless, science says you are closely related to him.

You do know that you got your five fingers from the foot of a salamander that lived in the carboniferous era, millions of years ago. If that salamander had had six toes, you would have six fingers, including the thumb, also the duodecimal instead of the decimal system, much better for mathematics. And the violin would have six strings.

You owe even more to the little mud eel than you do to the salamander. The brain of that little eel was the beginning of yours. It has five lobes, like yours, and a little cortex like the thick cortex on top of your brain. The five divisions of an eel brain are found only in the full developed human brain, and they function as in man.

RUSSIAN authorities announce complete success for their five-year plan. All the work mapped out will be accomplished in 1932. Part was accomplished in two and a half years and, remembering, perhaps, Napoleon's question: "What did you do the next day?" they announce another five-year plan.

They say, and with truth, that the success of their recent efforts commands the respect of foreign countries, and there is less danger of attack from without. Therefore they will devote five more years to building up agriculture, machinery and prosperity. But for the more peaceful outlook, presumably the next five years would have been devoted to building up a giant fighting machine.

SPANISH QUEEN AND CHILDREN GO TO FRANCE

Are Last of Royal Family To Leave Following King's Abdication.

ALFONSO SAILS WEST

Presumably Off for England; New Rulers Report Country Tranquil.

By The Associated Press
MADRID, April 15—Queen Victoria of Spain left the royal palace for France today with four of her children, the last of the royal family to go, and the colors of the new Spanish republic were draped across the doors of the palace.

In the meantime, King Alfonso, who boarded a cruiser at Cartagena this morning, was sailing westward on the Mediterranean, presumably for England.

The final scene of parting took place in the little station of Escorial, near the palace, today as the queen and her two daughters and two sons, last of the family to depart, bade adieu on the station platform to a little band of faithful retainers, grandees and aristocrats who had gathered to wish them Godspeed.

Scores of members of the aristocracy of Spain were also bound out of Spain on express trains, pending a settlement of the country's affairs.

With the queen were Infanta Cristina and Beatriz, the crown prince of the Asturias and Prince Gonzalo, the youngest son.

Exiles Returning
Scores of political exiles returned from foreign lands to aid the establishment of the order for which they were banished, included was Captain Ramon Franco, insurgent aviator.

A national holiday was decreed and the people continued yesterday's celebration over the fall of the monarchy.

Political prisoners were liberated throughout the nation but the government refused to free common law offenders.

Resignations of several Spanish ambassadors were received from abroad and foreign envoys hastened to pay their respects to the new foreign office.

Martial law was proclaimed at Barcelona as the result of partisan clashes and a 24 hour strike was declared to guard against a possible monarchist coup.

The text of the king's last proclamation to his people was kept on the ground that the time was not propitious.

One untoward incident marked the departure of the royal family. A Republican sympathizer at the station, during an interval in the shout of the monarchists for royalty, shouted "Viva Republica!" He was promptly manhandled by a group of aristocrats and hustled off the station platform.

Plans for the departure of the queen and her children were made with strictest secrecy. They arrived at the station from the palace in automobiles, accompanied only by a few close friends and a score of civil guards.

HOOVER GETS WET PETITION

500 Women of Anti-Prohibition Organization Call on President.

THEY ASK FOR REPEAL

Visit Made After Resolution Is Adopted at Annual Convention.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 15—More than 500 women, armed with a resolution calling for outright repeal of the 18th amendment, today waited personally upon President Hoover to ask his aid to this end.

The White House offices were filled to overflowing, and a long line stretched into the courtyard, as members of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform waited to shake hands with the chief executive.

The organization's second annual convention, a few minutes earlier had named Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll of New York, their secretary, to present the unanimously adopted resolution. It concluded:

"We petition the President and the congress of the United States to take such action as will give to the people of the United States an opportunity to put into effect the principles to which we adhere."

Gives Presentation Talk
Mrs. Nicoll, in presenting the resolution to President Hoover, said:

"At the second annual convention of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, comprising a membership of over 200,000 from every state, it was voted the copy of the resolution passed by the convention this morning be presented to you and to the congress."

I, therefore, have the honor to present you with this resolution.

President Hoover smiled and said, "Very glad to have you." He shook hands with several hundreds of the women.

Their hopes for the future were bolstered by word from Matthew Woll, a vice president of the American Federation of Labor, that working men were organizing to "thwart the persistent and fanatical attempt to force prohibition on a free and unwilling people."

Woll told the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform yesterday that the Eighteenth amendment and Volstead act have not and cannot stop the use of liquor.

U. S. CITIZENS TO EVACUATE MENACED CITY

Washington Authorities Move To Protect 300 in Nicaraguan Port.

REBEL ATTACK IMPENDS

Nine Americans Listed Among Dead in Clashes of Last Few Days.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press
PUERTO CABEZAS, NICARAGUA, April 15—United States Marines from the U. S. S. ASHEVILLE landed today to protect the populace against attacks from Nicaraguan insurgents. Nine Americans and many natives have been slain since Saturday.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 15—The United States moved today to protect and evacuate its 300 citizens in the insurgent-threatened Nicaraguan seaport, Puerto Cabezas.

As relief forces deployed in the disturbed region, the state department had decided conditions were serious enough to warrant debarking of armed forces from the gunboat Asheville. Twenty-five marines landed from the gunboat but were withdrawn when national guardsmen returned to the city.

Official dispatches said insurgents continued to converge on the city where civil outposts at first attempted to delay the approaches. All of the 43 national guardsmen had been sent on patrols when trouble developed, and it was feared some were surrounded.

NINE IN DEATH LIST

Toll of American Lives Reported from Puerto Cabezas.

By The Associated Press
PUERTO CABEZAS, NICARAGUA, April 15—Nine Americans have been killed by Nicaraguan insurgents in the vicinity of Logtown, about 70 miles from here, since Saturday morning.

The names of Americans killed in the fighting, and in attacks by the insurgents are: Captain Harlan Pelley, U. S. M. C. of Philadelphia; W. H. Bond, Jr., of Sarasota, Fla.; Percy Davis, of Hammond, La.; Hubert Wilson of New Orleans; J. D. Phelps of Baton Rouge, La.; J. H. Bryan of Clinton, Md.; "Rip" Davis of Mississippi; William Selser of Florida; J. M. Sagarzumi of Guatemala City, believed to be an American citizen.

Appear in Early Morning
The insurgents suddenly appeared at Logtown in the early morning of April 11, barely giving the commissary clerk the time to call the Wawa Junction telephone exchange. He shouted "help" and ran, leaving the receiver down.

The Wawa operator as a consequence was able to hear the bandits as they looted the Logtown commissary and notified Puerto Cabezas and other encampments in the vicinity.

An automobile carrying William Selser, "Plinkie" Wilson, Arthur Curtis, Americans, took a marine and four of the guards toward the lumber camp but stopped some distance away to await Captain Harlan Pelley and four more of the

LOCAL PHONE RATE CUT ORDERED BUT REFUND IS HELD UP

Federal Court Directs Company To Start New Rates May 1; Refund Enjoined Pending Further Inquiry.

Federal Judges in Cincinnati today issued an order granting the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. of Marion a temporary injunction against an order by the Ohio public utilities commission requiring an immediate refund of excess rates charged local telephone users, according to the United Press.

Orders New Rates
At the same time the judges ordered that the company start billing rates prescribed by the utilities commission effective May 1.

As grounds for the order, that the commission's rates be adopted the judges said that as the commission was entrusted by law to determine the reasonableness of the rates applied for, it followed that the rates now prescribed were reasonably correct.

"Delay is costly and the right of the subscriber to reimbursement should the charges be determined excessive may be determined following hearing of the case on its merits," the court order read.

May Dissolve Order
"No reason is presented except that of expense to refute our assumption of the adequacy of the commission's allowances with respect to annual expenses, depreciation and future taxes. The temporary restraining order, enjoining the placing in effect of the new rates will therefore be dissolved as of May 1, 1931."

E. M. Wichian of Delaware, was appointed the special master to examine the reasonableness of the rates. Major Herbert said his duties would entail a complete hearing on the rate charges now and previously.

The judges held that placing the new rates in effect should stimulate the telephone company to hasten a final determination of the issues in the case which otherwise might be delayed for years.

Enforcement of the temporary injunction was ordered after Herbert, who represented the attorney general in the matter, conceded to such action.

The temporary injunction was granted the company recently by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough. It was allowed pending consideration of the case by a three judge court.

CALL MEETING ON DEDICATION

Program for Harding Memorial Ceremony To Be Discussed Tonight.

COMMITTEE TO CONVEENE

Association President Authorizes Executive Group To Outline Plans.

A program for the dedication of Harding Memorial June 16 will be built around the scheduled dedicatory speech of President Hoover when the executive committee of the Harding Memorial association meets in the offices of its chairman, Hoke Donifhen, tonight.

As yet, no detailed plans for a program to formally dedicate the monument have been made. President Hoover plans to give his dedicatory address the afternoon of June 16, he has announced.

Former President Coolidge also is expected to appear on the program.

A number of other White House notables, and former members of the Harding cabinet are expected to be present for the dedication, and possibly will appear briefly on the program.

After plans have been worked out in the executive committee, Joseph S. Freelinghuyzen of New Jersey, president of the Memorial association, probably will come to Marion to go over the plans with Chairman Donifhen and possibly other members of the committee.

Freelinghuyzen authorized the local executive committee to go ahead with the formulation of a program, after conferring with President Hoover.

TEAMSTER FATALLY SHOT NEAR BUCYRUS

Officials Find Body of Plymouth Man Lying Along Highway.

By The Associated Press
BUCYRUS, O., April 15—The body of Frank Vanadale, 65, Plymouth teamster, was found on the Plymouth-Bucyrus highway, nine miles north of here today. He had been shot to death.

Officials of Plymouth said they found a shotgun and two empty cartridges near the body which had fallen alongside the man's automobile. They also found $68 and a watch in his pockets.

Vanadale left home last night for groceries and failed to return. Authorities said they were uncertain whether he was slain or ended his own life.

POLICE CHIEF PREPARES TO FIGHT REMOVAL

Says Jones and Safety Director Failed To Give Cooperation.

ADDRESSES COMMISSION

Expresses Confidence in Ability To Conduct Affairs of Post.

Charging that the manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the police department during his 90-day period of probation has been necessarily conservative because he lacked the cooperation and backing of his superiors, Police Chief William E. Marks today filed with the civil service commission an answer to general charges of inefficiency brought against him Saturday by Mayor L. Don Jones.

Gets No Cooperation
"I have had no instructions whatsoever from either the mayor or safety director, despite the fact that I solicited their advice and cooperation," Chief Marks stated in his defense against charges brought against him by Mayor Jones in an attempted ouster movement.

"Neither the mayor nor the safety director ever once offered to aid down and review with me the duties of my office or a plan of procedure of any kind," Chief Marks answered.

"If your commission retains me in office I am confident that his honor, the mayor and the safety director will award me the cooperation needed to put into effect a real organization of the department and the handling of police matters with dispatch and upon a business-like basis," is the closing statement of the defense.

Answers Charges
The statement of Chief Marks is a reply to general charges brought against him by Mayor Jones who Saturday asked approval of the commission to the dismissal of Marks as police chief. The reply answers each individual charge brought by the mayor.

Charges brought by Mayor Jones came at the close of the 90-day probationary period of Chief Marks, which ended Saturday at midnight.

Following is the complete answer of Chief Marks, filed with the civil service commission late this morning:

"Under date of April 11, the Honorable L. Don Jones, mayor of Marion, sent to you a communication wherein he reported that my services as police chief of Marion during the probationary period thereof had not been satisfactory, and requested your approval of my dismissal from such office."

"You have been kind enough to present me a copy of that communication and I am, therefore, taking this opportunity of respectfully answering the statement of the mayor to my record."

"The mayor has stated that I have failed to demonstrate sufficient knowledge of the duties of the position of chief of police. That, of course, is his conclusion. I feel that in the period I have been permitted to serve that I have acquired a reasonable knowledge of my duties and I am perfectly willing to submit to examination by you concerning my knowledge of the duties of my office. I submit that experience is the best teacher and I am eager and willing to

PLANS TO TAKE DRY FIGHT INTO SCHOOLS

Anti-Saloon League Hopes To Give "Lessons" on Harms of Alcohol.

By International News Service
COLUMBIA, O., April 15—Plans are being drawn to carry the battle for retention of prohibition into the public schools of Ohio in "lessons" illustrating "the harmful effects of alcohol on the human body." It was announced here today.

Although John L. Clifton, state director of education, has not been consulted on the proposal, R. R. McNaught, superintendent of the Ohio anti-saloon league, believes there will be opposition to the plan "because it is merely one for the truth about alcohol and its results."

The plan, announced by McNaught at the close of the statewide temperance rally here, is to distribute a "quiz book" prepared by the dry leader himself, in the public schools throughout the state. From it "lessons" would be taught in either civics, history, or hygiene classes.

Lucky Guy

(Wild Rogers Special)
PANAMA CITY, April 15—Spanish paper on the street just now says the king of Spain is out. He has had a stormy career and his troubles are all over now.

I bet Mr. Hoover says, "the lucky guy."

Well, if they think running a republic is a cinch, all they got to do is look around a little. I have been in eight republics in the last 10 days, including our own, and everyone of 'em ought to be under Munsell.

The paper says the Republicans took over Spain. Now watch some poor Spanish desperado try to get relief. Yuck.

Marion's First Fine Arts Display Likely To Be Made Annual Event, Mrs. Mouser Says

"MARION is destined to become a great city insofar as its citizens partake of the fine things of life," Karl Bolander, director of the Columbus Art school and the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts said in his talk on "Correlation of the Arts," last night in The Star auditorium before a group of approximately 400 patrons of the fine arts program sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. H. K. Mouser, president, indicated this morning that the fine arts program will become an annual event.

In summing up his short and enthusiastic talk in which he showed the beauty of art in music, in religion, in the drama and in education, Mr. Bolander said: "We must keep preaching the gospel of beauty and appreciation to the boys and girls. Art is beauty, beauty is truth and truth is something that will always endure." He mentioned the effort that is being made today to interest the parents in the arts so that they may know and appreciate the work that is given their children in the public schools.

Art Display
Before and after the two-hour program, the exhibits of Marion's own artists were enjoyed. Displays were made of the work of Marion students in art schools, the public and parochial art work, the 61 prize-winning and honorable mention posters for the 1933 Chicago World's fair, examples of the work of Marion's first art classes, pieces of sculpture, some by Herman

Atkins McNeil of New York City, recognized as one of the four greatest sculptors in the United States, and many paintings, oil and sketches by Marion's own talent.

James Hess, Columbus exponent of Scotch and Irish dances, opened the program with the highland fling and the Scotch sword dance. A group of 12 girls directed by Miss Janet Martin of the Oscar Conrad School of Dancing in Columbus, presented a ballet in color, design and musical harmony. The girls were Margaret Fogle, Dorothy Kopp, Neva Rish, Martha McKeever, Imogene Lott, Grace Marie Staker, Dorothy Pace, Lucile Valentine, Mary Joe Zeisler, Pauline Shelton, Catherine Parcher and Lillian Thomas. An animated group of Irish dances and the sailor's horn-pipe by Mr. Hess concluded the dance group. Mrs. R. O. Breiler played the piano accompaniments.

Mrs. Hume Reads
The literature department of the federation presented Mrs. Rodney B. Hume who gave readings of nine children's poems written by Mrs. Herman S. Rhu. The poems are unpublished and were written by Mrs. Rhu for her own children. The group included "The Wrong Variety," "Kings," "Grownups," "My Princess," "Poor Pussy," "Playing Bear," "Benjamin Bones," "Pants" and "Bedtime."

Illness prevented the appearance of the string quartet and substituting three violinists from Harding High school, Fred Sabback, Charles Pulsford and Charles Schoechle played two numbers, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," Dvorak, and "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," Burleigh, arranged by Bornschein. Miss Grace Stockman accompanied at the piano.

Three lovely groups on the program were the two groups of eight songs sung by Ray McClintock of New York City, tenor with the National Broadcasting Co., and four piano selections by Miss Bernice Coughle of Mt. Victory.

Mr. McClintock's tenor voice, clear and rich, was admirably suited to his selections which included "Adelaide," Beethoven, "Widmung," Schumann, "Cher de Lune," Faure, "O Joke-O Pere," (Le Cid), Massenet, "Night, Peace," Quilter, "I Heard You Go By," Wood, "Do Not Go My Love," Hagemann and "When I Think Upon the Maiden." He was compelled by the applause to sing two encores, "Four Leaf Clover" and "Sigh No More." Mrs. H. K. Mouser played his piano accompaniments.

Miss Coughle's Numbers
Miss Coughle, one of the outstanding pianists in this section of the country, played three numbers, "Butterfly," Leale, "Prelude in G Minor," Rachmaninoff and "Caprice," Liszt. Applause commanded an encore, and she played one of her own compositions, a lovely, soft arrangement.

Concluding the program, and rounding out the fine arts theme, the Marion Mimes presented an entertaining play on a modern theme, with a cast including Mrs. Merle Hamilton, Miss Betty Crissinger and W. W. Clarke.

The exhibits included "Fountain Figure," by Henry Atkins McNeil, the property of his cousin, M. C. McNeil of this city, an exhibit by Cora Lee DeLong Maxwell, Cleveland's leading woman sculptor, Frank Jurouch, Cleveland's foremost male sculptor, and Marion P. King of Ashtabula and New York.

The historical exhibits included work of Mrs. Elizabeth Sweeney, Marion's first art student and teacher and dated back 70 years, and some of her students, Miss Bell Beatty Reiser, Mrs. Kate Fish, Mrs. Gertrude King, Mrs. Jonas Concklin and Bright Duffee.

The work of Mrs. Minnie Gregg Myers, Marion's second art teacher, Mrs. Clara Bowen Campbell and Mrs. Mary Bishop Sharpless was displayed. Present-day artists who contributed included Miss Mabel Wheatley, Mrs. Glenna Clevenger, Mrs. George Turney Myers, Mrs. Viola Nordquest, Miss Alice Blake, Miss Virginia Stock, Miss Veda Walsh, James E. Crawford, Miss Edith Keeler, Rush Carskadon, Paul Clevenger, Miss Janet Smith, Miss Betty Mautz, Charles Woods, Cecil Roberts, a colored porter at Hotel Marion, Charles Fairbanks, William Smith who exhibited marionettes and Miss Vedith Babb, who was in charge of the display from the Occupational Therapy department of White Oaks sanatorium.

Can't PLAY
Can't REST
—child needs Castoria

WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child.

All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

was played as thrilling
—with a thread of is grimness—as any in of my quest. For Chink Dorson was warily questioning me as to the character reputation habits way of life, comings and goings of Squire Webb, his wife of Witherby End, his acquaintance, Spider Schultz.

Yes, I was actually being cross-examined by Chink Dorson, privately, burglar and gunman, who counting subtle brain and cold determined courage had been at the top of his profession as the right hand man of the notorious Englishman, Doc Simon.

Who was it? Of just a very ordinarily middle-class Englishman staying at Witherby End, the same fishing. Hadn't tried it here before but should certainly come again.

Yes, Squire Webb had the rights and was very generous about them.
Did not fishing himself.

Yes, Witherby Stream ran right through his grounds and one could go the whole way in a punt right through his park, once one had obtained his fishing permit. A good landlord and a regular fellow.

Yes, lots of scandalous stories about him, his guests his household, and the goings on, there.
In residence now? Yes.

And many more questions, gradually narrowing down to those concerning Mr. Webb's daily life, his habits, customs, comings and goings.

I gave the fellow all the information I could and every possible hint, short of seeming to know too much.

For a magnificent new scheme,
or rather enlargement of my original scheme, was forming in my mind.

If, as Williams H. Williams had written to me, Simon had probably been released from prison before the others, and had then gone to Uncle, collected the Unsettling Sun and other loot that was the common property of the gang, and bolted with it to England—it was more than likely that Spider Schultz had followed him in the hope of getting his share, and that Chink Dorson, having served his term and been released, was now in hot pursuit of both of them.

If this were not the situation,
why should Chink Dorson be here at Witherby End, cunningly collecting the sort of information that any burglar gathers before "cracking a crib?"

If Chink Dorson's intentions were any but the worst possible, why didn't he drive straight up to his old friend's front door, and being shown into his presence, extend the glad right hand of friendship, and gather him in brotherly love to his board and palpitating bosom?

No. Adding together the sound deductions that William had made, and my own deductions based on Chink Dorson's present conduct, I felt pretty confident, nay certain, that he was at Witherby End neither for his own health nor that of Spider Schultz, but for his own enrichment and the punishment of one of the two men who had double-crossed and robbed him.

How utterly splendid! what a wonderful and beautiful example of poetic justice it would be—if these two wolves destroyed each other, leaving me free to deal with the remaining pair!

For the weak spot in my scheme,
the weak link in my chain of vengeance—and the one that kept me anxiously awake at night—was the danger that I might be arrested and tried as the slayer of the first or second of my victims, before I had time to deal with the third and fourth.

New Serial "Mad Pursuit" Will Begin in Star Monday

Jessie Douglas Fox, author of "Mad Pursuit," The Star's next serial, does not project her own personality in the stories she writes. At least, the heroine of "Mad Pursuit" does not resemble her creator.

An insatiable desire for travel, new faces and places, was born in Miss Fox with her first sight of the brightly colored maps in her geography book.

Both Nora Lake, heroine of "Mad Pursuit," which starts in The Star Monday, April 20, thoroughly dislikes the idea of traveling, which she has done most of her life to the exclusion of even knowing what a real home might be.

Nora followed her artist-father, as thoroughly charming as he is irresponsible, about Europe from town to town, from one temporary resting-place to another. While the father revels in the gay, careless continental vagabondage, his daughter longs for the peaceful, quiet of a home remote from the hub-bub of cities and throngs. She marries to attain this dream-home but the bubble bursts before she can reach America from Florence, Italy, where the story opens.

Life for Nora becomes a succession of tragedies, climaxed by a stirring romance. Miss Fox is the author of "Rain Before Seven" and other popular stories the penalty. He had received the punishment directly due for stealing my diamond, the act which led to the death of my daughter.

And now for the punishment of the second one.

Softly closing the door, I tiptoed away to where the shadows of the landing were darkest, and crouched down, beside, and partly behind, the pedestal of a ghostly looking statue.

A minute later, the door of the library opened, softly closed again, and the figure of Chink Dorson passed between me and the moon-lit window on the other side of the broad landing.

To Be Continued.

Madge's Father Accepts the Assignment of Winning Mother Graham's Approval.

MY FATHERS tried ever since that Ducky was willing that out baby daughter should be named Faith, the name which had been chosen by my mother along with my own, but which I never had known she owned until I had heard my father's sad story.

I thought Richard would consent," he said. "He is always so thoughtful and considerate. Do not say anything to your mother-in-law. Just find out for me where she is, and judge what will be the best time and place for me to see her. Then I will make the opportunity. I do not wish her to think that you know anything about my wish."

The Boys Are in Trouble

"That will be wise," I said a little grimly, for I had no illusions concerning my mother-in-law's reaction to my father's wish to name the baby "Faith" if she thought I had any part in the plan. There is no doubt as to her very real affection for me, but upon this subject of a name for her new little granddaughter, she was displaying an almost senile obstinacy and jealousy.

"Don't be bitter, darling," my father said quickly. "She is an old woman, you know."

"Yes, I know," I answered contritely. "And I will be good. Honest!" I smiled up at him. "As for seeing her, she is asleep now. I think—and she never is in very good humor just before dinner."

But after dinner, I imagine it would be easy to get a chance to talk to her alone."

"I shall make the chance," my father said, smiling, "and your counsel is wise. I am afraid you have learned wisdom from watching your father and your husband."

"Also all other people I know, of both genders," I told him, laughing. "As I went out of the room. Down the hall I saw Bill standing in the doorway of the room I had fitted up for Dicky's older nephews. He was looking in all directions, and there was a worried look on his face."

"What is the trouble, Bill?" I asked as his face showed relief at seeing me.

Hank is "decent!"

"Why? I hate to trouble you, Aunt Madge, but our clothes are all wrinkled. I wonder where we could get them pressed in a hurry."

"I hope that my face did not betray my amused surprise, for the idea of Bill and Hank being perturbed over wrinkles was highly ludicrous when I remembered the supreme indifference to anything sartorial which had been theirs when they were at home before."

"I'm afraid that isn't possible before dinner," I said, and then as his face fell perceptibly, I said—"Let me see them."

"Just a second." He turned his head and called back into the room—"Get decent, Hank. Aunt Madge is coming in."

I bit my lips at the "back-stage" argot which he uttered with a conscious air, and nearly laughed outright when Hank replied with a swagger "I am decent!" I entered the room, with Bill punctiliously holding the door open, to find Hank wrapped in a bathrobe, with the collar of his undershirt and bags spread out before him. He was regarding them with an air of worried disapproval, comically reflected in the faces of Junior and Roderick who were as near to the center of things as they could get, and craning their necks to be sure that they missed nothing of what to them patiently was a fascinating performance.

"Here's what I mean, Aunt Madge," Bill held up some white flannel trousers, and then two dark-blue coats. They are terrible!" I silently agreed with him, although I knew that at Christmas time I had to inspect both boys every evening to see that they were fit to come to the dinner table. But for the moment I did not know what to do about the wrinkled clothing.

"I'll see your uncle," I said grasping at a straw, for when Dicky is tried he is hopelessly impatient and does not like to be delayed. "But away the rest of your things! I'll be back directly."

I went down to Dicky's room, my amusement mounting as I went, until when I entered I sank into a chair helpless with laughter.

"You seem a little amused, Dicky, didn't you?"

"Will Dicky be the Valet?"

"I am!" I sat up and wiped my eyes. "But I'm afraid you won't be. Hank and Bill are in dire distress because their blue coats and white trousers are too wrinkled for them to wear down to dinner."

"I'll bet you are!" he intoned dramatically. "These knicks and wrinkles won't do. Why, at Christmas time you used to make me look behind their ears to see if they had washed their necks!"

"How true it is!" I quoted with a grin. "But I happened to be facing a fact not a theory. The things are really quite a mess and have, even with Mrs. Tuck coming over every day, had more than she ought to do and so—"

I broke off for Dicky was acknowledging perceptibly.

"Was it perchance your idea, he drawled, "that I should valet the young gentlemen?"

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD H. LEWIS

THERE isn't much for a kid to do in the spring of the year. Today was Wednesday when me and Jubilee woke up, and when I let him down by his rope and it had rained in the night and everything was wet and shiny, and Wednesday is the middle day in the week, so when it is gone the week is half gone.

The bunch was out in the yard playing with the acting pool whilst I was milking and I could hear them hollering and laughing while I worked, and Jubilee sat up with his mouth open till I gave him a few quirts, and then he pushed the barn door open and went out where the bunch and their pupa were playing, and I was wishing I was out there, and then the door opened and when I looked around Yonias was sitting on the feed box smiling at me and she asked me if I wouldn't like to be out in the yard, and as soon as I was sure no one else was in the barn I told her I would rather be the feed box she was sitting on, and she laughed and I could feel my ears getting red whilst I milked. Then when I got done milking and was propping the barn door open so the cows could get out doors she took the milk pail and carried it in the house for me, and my aunt said: "What is your fortune, my pretty maid," and Yonias said, "My face is my fortune," and my grandfather said that was fortune enough for anybody, and everyone laughed.

Since my uncle paid his board last Saturday everyone went as grumpy as they used to be. He said he was going over to call on

Cemetery Association Reelects All Officers

Directors of Burial Organization Hold Annual Meeting; Reports Indicate Continuous Program of Improvements in Progress; Prepare New Tract.

Officers were reelected when the Marion Cemetery association held its annual meeting in the directors' room of the Marion National bank last night.

Officers are C. D. Schaffner, president, S. E. Barlow, vice president, H. J. Merchant, secretary and treasurer, J. G. Leffler, Ray R. King and C. C. Fisher, trustees. E. N. Sloan is superintendent.

Make Improvements
Reports and discussions last night show that a number of improvements are continually in process at the cemetery, both in the new and old tracts. Landscaping of the new tract directly east of the Harding Memorial is under way on a long time program. This tract has not been opened for graves.

No major improvements are on the 1931 program of the association although work is always being done to improve and preserve the appearance of the grounds.

The following statement was issued by the association today following its meeting last night:

"The Marion Cemetery association, organized in 1857, is maintained for the citizens of Marion at a cost of many thousands of dollars a year. The people of Marion are blessed with one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the United States and ranks next only to Spring Grove cemetery in Cincinnati as the most beautiful in the state of Ohio."

No Damage—Sparks from the flue of the residence of Mrs. W. H. Winters of 154 Spencer street caused neighbors to send in an alarm to Central fire station yesterday at 7:50 p. m. No damage was done.

Undergoes Operation—Mrs. Clarence Bailey, 298 Leader street, was admitted to City hospital last night and underwent an abdominal operation this morning.

Visits Mother—Mrs. Anna Hagan of 651 Cherry street and Mrs. Eva March of the Curtis apartments motored to Columbus yesterday to visit Mrs. Hagan's mother, Mrs. Ruth Locke who is under observation at University hospital. Mrs. Locke is a former resident of Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Biers of Marion R. F. D. No. 8 are the parents of a daughter born last night. A son was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Schwen of 254 South Grand avenue.

PLAN CANTON TRIP

Rotarians Urged To Attend Conference May 1.

Dr. W. Stuart Carnes, for 15 years a member of the Canton Rotary club, urged Marion Rotarians to be well represented at a district conference of Rotary at Canton April 30 and May 1, when the local club met yesterday in Hotel Harding.

The meeting was in charge of Arden Millor, chairman of the "On-to-Canton" committee of the club. Harold Compton, a supervisor of music in Marion county schools, gave several vocal solos after Carnes' speech, and also led the club singing.

After appearing here, Carnes hurried to Bucyrus where he urged members of that club to attend the district conference.

TULSA, Okla.—Mrs. Ione Potter recently was granted her third divorce from G. C. Potter, oil royalty dealer. Previous to this she had been divorced twice from Potter.

Business Expert Notes Trend of Improvement

Conditions Shown During All of First Quarter of Year, Col. Ayres Reports; Upturn Seen as Small but Encouraging.

The Associated Press
COLUMBIA, O., April 15.—The business situation improved during all of the first quarter of 1931, says Col. Ayres, of the Cleveland company, in his monthly survey of conditions made public today.

The situation was greater and industrial production was larger, Colonel Ayres said. The advance during the first quarter of 1931, he said, was not as great as in the first quarter of 1930, but it was sufficiently definite to indicate that the business situation was improving.

Colonel Ayres noted that the business situation was improving in all of the principal industries. He said that the business situation was improving in all of the principal industries.

ARE YOU TOO NERVOUS TO SLEEP?

MRS. MARY DENNY, of Marion, Ohio, writes: "I was suffering from woman's weakness, which caused me to become run-down and so nervous that for weeks at a time I could not sleep or rest at night. I had severe pains in my right side, my back ached and I got so weak I could hardly go. I was told that an operation was my only salvation. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and believed me of my weakness and restored me to health. I have never suffered in any way from this weakness since. As long as I live I will praise the 'Prescription'." Mrs. Mary Denny, 933 Sheehy St., All drugists.

With The Star Staff

Quite a Loss

SOME persons are always losing things, but the driver of a wreck car which towed a disabled auto through the center of town one day recently probably had a new experience no matter what his previous difficulty was along this line.

The wreck machine and its cargo had stopped at Center and Main streets for a traffic light. When the wrecker pulled out with the green light the tow rope snapped, leaving the disabled machine standing in the middle of the street.

The frantic efforts of the driver of the car being towed failed to halt the wrecker which continued north, out of sight, on North Main street.

The driver of the wrecker probably felt no more chagrined when he discovered his loss than the person in the stranded machine who was forced to push it to the curb and wait for assistance.

Likes Noise

THE delights of summer sports are all ready causing an upsurge in a South End neighborhood.

A boating enthusiast has an outboard motor and until he purchases the row-boat he's partially content with setting the motor in the back yard and letting it roar full power ahead. The trouble is he works from midnight until 8 a. m. or from 8 p. m. until 4 a. m. and it's up to the neighborhood to snatch a little sleep while the enthusiast is working.

To add to the effect he's threatening to attach the motor to a tub of water and then, housekeepers, prepare to wash the windows and get the clothes in off the line—the spray will be terrific.

But his friends are with him—they hope he gets the boat soon and goes off to some isolated lake and the motor sinks to the bottom.

Pity Poor Father

THE predicament women are in this spring is pitiable. Last season they bought coats which were very much in style, longer

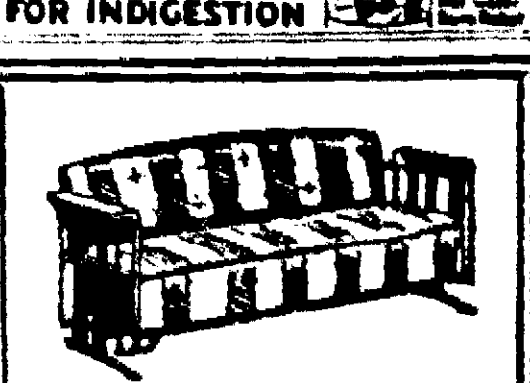

Court Asked To Prevent Shift in Creek's Course

By The Associated Press
PORTSMOUTH, O., April 15.—Claiming the proposed turning of a creek would ruin his property, Clinton M. Seale, attorney, has filed suit asking that G. Murray Anderson of Chillicothe, division engineer of the state highway department, and Frank E. Roush, Columbus contractor, be enjoined from changing the course of the stream. WHAT YOU GET IN THE

New OAKLAND V-8

FOR ONLY $967 DELIVERED EQUIPPED

THIS IS THE PRICE OF THE TWO-DOOR SEDAN OR COUPE, equipped and delivered in Marion, Ohio. Sport Coupe $1047. Four-Door Sedan or Convertible Coupe $1097. Custom Sedan $1127. All cars equipped with front and rear bumpers, shock absorbers, 5 wire wheels, extra tire, tube and tire lock.

Here are some of the typical distinctive features that make the new Oakland V-8 "an inexpensive version of the finest":

85-H. P. V-8 ENGINE—Long a recognized major advantage in cars notable for performance, the V-type engine as developed by Oakland balances brilliance with dependability. Smooth, even power at all speeds.

SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSION—Heretofore found only in costly cars, Synchro-Mesh is now standard in the Oakland. Easy, classless, quiet—permitting a shift up or down without effort or annoyance. New quiet second gear—acceleration is a delight.

INSULATED FISHER BODIES—New interpretations of style, comfort and roominess. New protection of passengers' ease... for the famous Fisher wood-and-steel construction is snugly insulated against heat, cold, dampness and traffic noise.

WHIPCORD OR MOHAIR UPHOLSTERY—Owner and guests alike recognize the good taste and lasting value of Oakland's upholstery. Closed cars have genuine whipcord or mohair—open cars, fine leathers.

RUBBER CUSHIONED CHASSIS—At more than 40 points rubber insulation absorbs road shocks. Spring shackles cushioned with rubber add to driving ease, increase the car's steadiness and prolong its life.

A demonstration of the new Oakland V-8 will be arranged at your convenience, without obligation, of course.

DAILY PROVERB—"Good nature is the most god-like commendation of a good man."

A resident of Italy who put in a telephone call for No. 14, Thun, Switzerland, got No. 14 in London. He landed in the right way, but it was in the wrong church.

The Iowa farmers who resisted the "testing" of their herds and the state authorities out there got together in a conference and all is once more serene. Another crisis met, and war is averted!

Norman Thomas advocated an appropriation of $500,000,000 by a special session of congress for immediate relief among the unemployed and the flotation of a $3,000,000,000 "hunger loan." Norman has long been generous that way in strengthening his appeal to the element of discontent.

Soviet Russia has decided that it needs 13,000 foreign experts. Its plan to develop its own specialists having failed. Naturally. The very idea of bolshevism is antagonistic to anything constructive.

Jouett Shouse, the irrepressible, told a Los Angeles audience that President Hoover has failed to measure up to the standards of the presidency. Let's see! What's that old one about every knock by some people being a boost?

Curiosity prompted a society woman of Lausanne, Switzerland, to have a pill, held out as a sure remedy for overweight, analyzed, with the result that it was found to contain the germ of a tapeworm. Well, there's no getting away from the fact that an energetic tapeworm would certainly work to reduce weight.

Elmer Davis, whoever he may be, is quoted as saying that "there has been need for some time for a symposium to end symposiums."

What's the use. Remember "the war to end war."

As a nation we are a reception committee for visitors," says John Erskine, "not necessarily important visitors either." Let us hope that John isn't permitting any race feeling to cause him to knock visiting royalty.

The general assembly of Delaware has passed a bill requiring automobile owners convicted of certain offenses and who cause damage for which no settlement is made to furnish proof of financial responsibility or be debarred from further driving. Possibly somewhat drastic, but there is no getting away from the fact that it, in the event it becomes a law, will add to the safety of motoring.

The Term, "Nullification," Misused.

The word, "nullification," has been employed freely and incorrectly the last few days. In Illinois, the act of the governor in vetoing the repealer of the state prohibition enforcement law has been explained as a stand against nullification. In Ohio, where actual nullification would be far more difficult than it would be in Illinois, the governor has promised delegates to the state temperance rally that he will see there "no nullification of the constitution."

A better word than "nullification" in both cases would be "disregard."

It should be recalled that the "enabling" clause of the eighteen amendment reads: "The congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." Maryland, which never adopted a state enforcement act, can not rightfully be accused of practicing nullification, and no more can any state that repeals its enforcement act. Legally considered, it is nullification only if a state actually suspends

the operation of a federal law within its territory, or claims the constitutional right to suspend it. Suspension of "concurrent" legislation passed voluntarily to assist the federal government in enforcing an amendment is, in no sense, nullification. It is only a step toward the climax of popular sentiment where real nullification might become possible.

In 1825-29, the state of Georgia forcibly prevented the execution of federal laws and court decrees relating to the Indians within her borders. In Alabama, there was similar nullification from 1832-35. In 1832, South Carolina nullified the federal tariff laws, and, in the last decade before the Civil war, fourteen of the northern states nullified the federal statutes relating to slaves and slavery by making it a crime for their citizens to obey these laws. The southern states today have effectuated, in practice, a nullification of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution providing for negro suffrage.

If there were no federal enforcement of prohibition in Illinois, if the citizens of the state were openly hostile to federal enforcement, and if there were no local enforcement laws,

that state too would have nullification, in practice.

In the strict sense, however, there can be no nullification unless a state suspends a federal law, or claims the constitutional right to suspend it.

"Upon the Knees of the Gods!"

Spain, the monarchy of yesterday, is Spain, the republic of today. What it may be tomorrow, or next week, or next year, is "upon the knees of the gods."

When Alfonso XIII abdicated yesterday evening at 6 o'clock and was succeeded by Niceto Alcalá Zamora, the republican leader, as provisional president, the court of Castile and Aragon, the proudest in all Europe, passed into history.

Technically, Alfonso became king of Spain at his birth, forty-five years ago next month, but his mother, Queen Maria Christina, an Austrian princess, who gave him birth six months after the death of his father, acted as queen regent throughout his childhood and early youth. It was not until he had reached the age of sixteen that he took over the rule of Spain, nearby islands and its colonial possessions. Technically, his reign was longer than that of any ruler at present holding an European throne and his actual rule was exceeded only by that of Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, with whom he shared the honor of having reigned in two centuries. His reign was not only long, as present-day reigns go, but probably the most turbulent of all history. Scarcely a year passed that riot or revolution did not break out in continental Spain or its possessions, and on not less than twenty occasions he was made the target of an assassin. Yet he was admired throughout his realm for his unflinching courtesy and his bravery and courage and personally held the esteem of the people of Spain. Today he is personally popular with a mighty element of the Spanish people, and even his political enemies pay tribute to him while overthrowing his rule.

Alfonso actually believed that Spain needed him; that his people would profit more under a monarchy than under a republican form of government. In calling the election, the first of which last Sunday brought about the overthrowing of the monarchy, he expressed himself as being ready to surrender his throne if the people of Spain did not want him to rule over them. If they do not want me as king, I do not want to rule longer in Spain, is the substance of his utterance. The electorate demonstrated Sunday that it had been won away from a desire for monarchical rule, and yesterday he stepped aside that it might test the benefits for which it hopes under a republican form of government. A brave, courageous, gracious ruler has given place to a one-time monarchist who forsook the monarchist cause and brought about the downfall of the monarchy under the urge of hatred and revenge for what he considered a personal insult by Primo de Rivera eight years ago when the latter ruled Spain as dictator.

Just what will be the face of the Spain of today with its continental, island and colonial area of 844,783 square miles and its combined population of near 24,000,000 is a matter for conjecture, as is the future of Alfonso. He may be recalled to rule either as king or as president. He may have passed from the political stage for all time. But no matter what may be in store for him, not much in the way of peace and accord and prosperity can be hoped for in a republic, the impelling motive for the formation of which was hatred and revenge.

There were 421 homicides in New York City in 1930 against 357 the preceding year. There is no getting away from the fact that there has been an awful increase in crimes of violence since we began to reform human nature.

Adolph Ochs says that "business is definitely on the upgrade if people have the power to make the grade." True! But that's not overly encouraging to the fellow whose engine has gone wrong at the bottom of the business hill.

All of us have heard a lot about mud-throwing, particularly in political campaigns, but it's out of the ordinary when old Mother Nature gets to raining it as she did a day or two ago up at Chicoutimi. Come to think of it, a rain of mud at Chicoutimi, coming so close upon the opening of St. Lawrence traffic, can hardly do other than attract attention to the delightful trip up the Saguenay. How timely!

The state of Ohio will get $536,947.50 through inheritance taxes from the estate of the late Charles P. Taft, the Cincinnati publisher. It's the way of the tax-eaters. They are not content to stop their pursuit of us at the grave.

A survey, just completed, shows that 3,474,170 women are employed in British industry. If the British situation is like the American, we may have here an explanation of the comparatively great number of men unemployed over there.

All anybody contemplating the purchase of a radio set has to do to discover the best set on the market is to listen in on the radio for a night or two, and he will get the names of ten of twelve of it.

A former German war veteran, who is the head waiter in a Chicago restaurant, was praised by the coroner's jury investigating the killing of two thugs by him when they attempted to hold up the place in which he is employed. The double slaying may not have been in accord with the tenets of the law, but the jury's action in exonerating him will be accepted by the majority as an evidence of good, horse sense.

The latest rumor that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was about to resign varied from its many forerunners in this respect; it was coupled to a story that Charles G. Dawes was soon to resign as ambassador to Great Britain, both the grantees forthwith being declared false by the White House. The busybodies certainly are manifesting marked activity in their attempts to assist President Hoover in handling his office.

Jack Dempsey says he would rather fight Tunney one night and Schmeling the next than go through with his plan to divorce his wife, but he has to go through with it. And if we get Estelle Taylor correctly, she proposes to make Jack feel, in the event that he perseveres in his plan to divorce her, as though he had fought Tunney and Schmeling the same night, and then some. Ringside seats at the legal battle should come sky high, should the attempt at reconciliation fall down.

Editorial Opinion.

OUR JAPANESE VISITORS.

This republican city is very familiar with royalty. But none has come here to make a more charming impression than Prince Takamatsu, brother of the Emperor of Japan, and his wife, the Princess Kikuko. Through the trying ordeals with shipwreck reporters, newspaper photographers, Communist demonstrators and Broadway crowds they passed with pleasing grace. The compliment implied when his Royal Highness gave the first newspaper interview which a descendant of the Sun Goddess Amaterasu ever gave was understood and appreciated in the United States. It was as if the emperor's brother said: "Such is the custom of this strange country. Let us, as guests, conform to it." The polite request that the prince be spared efforts at further interviewing should be heeded. Courtesy calls for courtesy in return. Noblesse oblige is as good a rule for demobocrats as for princes. These modest young gentlemen want to see the wonders of our country as quietly as they can. They prefer to do nothing to contribute to the inevitable publicity which is commanded by their station in life and by the intense public interest in a married pair who may one day rule over our greatest neighbor on the Pacific. Most newspapers will respect the wishes of Takamatsu. Undoubtedly he will form impressions of the United States, and probably for twentieth-century royalty is like other folk—when he gets home the Emperor Hirohito will want to know all about the subway, the Empire State building, Niagara falls, the Grand canyon and Chicago. It is too bad that we shall never know what the prince will tell the emperor.—New York Times.

"UP AND DOING."

The distinguished Irish poet and philosopher, George W. Russell, is at pains to tell the American people what is the matter with them. He blames all our troubles on the immortal "Psalms of Life." Longfellow's strong and admonishing poem.

He finds his fundamental criticism in the line, "Let us then be up and doing." In this line, so "A. E." says, we find the reason for American "restlessness." He affirms that we have been up and doing until we have invited a devastating economic disaster.

One is tempted to ask: Well, what about Ireland, England and the rest of the world?

We work too hard, says this modern prophet of complacent omniscience. We are stagnated by overproduction. We should cultivate the enduring virtue of idleness, he observes.

Well, the United States is no Lotus land. Our habit of being up and doing has placed us in the van of nations, both culturally and industrially. We are quite satisfied to endure comparison with Ireland or any other country in the world, but we should object to either Mr. Russell or George Bernard Shaw as jurors in a case of international comparison. They each talk too much, and their speech is not always fraught with the pearls of wisdom and kindly, truthful consideration.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A WORLD CONFERENCE FOR THE BLIND.

For the first time in history a great world conference on work for the blind is convening. At the call of President Hoover and under the auspices of several organizations that minister to the welfare of the sightless the members of the conference are assembling in Washington. They will compare notes, exchange ideas and canvass various tentative plans to provide additional opportunities for persons devoid of sight.

In the last two decades much has been done to improve the condition of the blind. Public and private benevolence has responded with increasing liberality to appeals in their behalf. Yet there is plenty of room for further improvement. There is urgent need of more and better library facilities for the blind. There is urgent consideration a remarkably ingenious program designed to give them through the sense of touch more nearly adequate knowledge of the world. Miniature models of skyscrapers, ocean liners, airplanes, railroad cars, mansions, cottages, fishing boats, statues and animals have been manufactured for the benefit of the blind. Both instruction and pleasure are gained from such extensions of their field of knowledge.

Thirty-six nations are represented at the conference. Educators will report to it the results obtained by new appliances and methods in use in trade schools and cultural and other institutions. The conference naturally will discuss means of preventing blindness as well as amelioration of the condition of those who have lost their sight or were born sightless. All persons will wish for the conference the fullest measure of success.—Chicago News, April 13.

Insulin and Diabetics.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Recently I wrote about diabetes and the great strides that have been made in the treatment of this disease. You will recall that I spoke of the horrors and complications that in former days were so commonly associated with this ailment.

Today I want to tell you a bit more about this condition. I have in mind particularly the surgical aspects.

Formerly, anyone with diabetes and having a condition that really required surgery was denied its application. Only the most urgent surgery was done on diabetics and this only when there was no other alternative. When they were operated upon for such conditions as appendicitis or gall bladder disease, too often they failed to recover from the operation. Though the surgery had been accomplished with great skill, the patient had no powers of recovery.

With the introduction of insulin, the modern remedy for diabetes, radical changes have resulted. Emergency surgery, as well as reparative surgery, can now be accomplished with a high degree of safety. All this has been made possible by the discovery of insulin.

However, it must not be overlooked that infections in persons who have diabetes are more serious in otherwise normal individuals. The vitality is lowered and the resistance is below normal.

In view of the increased amount of sugar found in the blood, infections in such persons play great havoc. Somehow, the body is not able readily to take care of the infection and healing is slow or absent.

Injuries and bruises, so far as possible, must at all times be avoided. It is important that infections be recognized early. No diabetic must consider any abrasion or infection too lightly.

The diabetic should make particular effort to maintain a clean, unbroken skin. This is an asset he should possess if he can. In event of accident, proper treatment should be had at once. He should avoid so far as he can any need for surgery.

I do wish to impress upon you the importance of early recognition of infections and surgical diseases in the diabetic. Early operation is the surest way to escape serious complications.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

MISS C. I. N. Q.—I have a rash on the face and throat, resembling the beginning of pimples. They are small red spots and itch quite badly. What would you advise?

A.—This may be due to a possible form of hives, eczema, food poisoning, producing an irritation. Watch the diet and keep the system clear.

READER. Q.—What lotion do you advise for rubbing after strenuous exercise?

A.—Rubbing alcohol may be used?

JOHN K. Q.—What causes a sort of rumbling sound in the stomach after eating?

A.—This may be due to hyperacidity. Correct your diet and avoid constipation.

MRS. M. F. C. Q.—What do you advise for acne?

A.—Proper diet and regular elimination should bring about general improvement.

G. W. S. Q.—What will heal varicose ulcers?

A.—Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

BETTY C. Q.—My eyelashes have all fallen out, what do you advise?

A.—Apply 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the eyelids at night.

F. S. Z. Q.—What causes cramps in the toes?

A.—This may be due to poor circulation.

Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

Dinner Stories.

"What are your views on prohibition?" "Is this a private talk," asked Senator Sargent, "or for publication?"

"What difference does that make?" "Possibly a great deal of difference. Where prohibition is concerned, a statesman's views are not necessarily the same as his interviews."

"Getting a divorce, are they? What's the trouble?" "Can't agree on who's boss. Both want to wear the pants."

"Ah, I see. Their divorce suit is of the two-pants variety."

Father, from upstairs—"Helen, isn't it time for that young man to go home?"

Young Man—"Your father is a crank."

Father, overhearing—"Well, when you don't have a self-starter a crank comes in mighty handy."

Debunking Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Science—physics, astrophysics, and mathematics in particular—is passing through a period of transition and uncertainty. Many scientists seriously doubt the validity of the assumption on which relativity rests. The quantum theory is open to suspicion, as raising objections to the conception of continuity. The wave theory of light has run into difficulties, since it presupposes a breakdown in the law of causality. The entirely satisfactory proof has been found that Achilles will ever catch up with the tortoise. In what sense shall we maintain that such a number as pi exists, if it requires an infinite number of operations to find it, and consequently we shall go on forever without ever actually attaining it?

Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass," who amusingly exhibited a thousand absurdities in our conventional habits of thought, nevertheless had the profoundest faith in the validity of mathematical analysis. His "charming" consistent system of reasoning, "The Charn" — of pure mathematics — by which, "lies chiefly — in the absolute certainty of its results: for that is what is beyond all mental treasure, the human intellect craves for. Let us only be sure of something. More light, more light . . . And if our fate be death, give light and let us die!" This is the cry that, through all the ages, is going up from perplexed humanity, and Science has little else to offer, that will really meet the demands of its votaries, than the conclusions of pure mathematics.

So long as mathematics is dealing with the finite, it is resting on solid ground. But modern mathematics presumes to deal with the infinite, with the infinite. As Hadamard, the French savant, says: "Has not science for its object that which is infinite? And if you say general do you not say infinite?"

E. T. Bell has recently pointed out in a suggestive monograph, happily entitled "Debunking Science," that "to make superstition in the name of science impossible is the principal objective of those who would debunk science. Superstition they define as belief against the best evidence available. . . . Attempts to read into the conclusions of science more than is given unequivocally by the recognized technique of science lead to superstition, as does also the perpetuation of things once held to be significant but not known to be nonsense."

Great advances have been made through the labors of Weierstrass, Cantor, Dedekind, and Kronecker. But new skeptics arise, who act up question marks in the place of periods. For instance, Bronson shows how Aristotle's law or the excluded middle breaks down when we deal with collections consisting of an uncountable on infinite number of things. Thus we see that the doctors of mathematics today—Russell, Whitehead, Hilbert, Brouwer, Kronecker and Van Waerden—disagree over the very foundations of modern mathematical reasoning. How sound are the foundations? Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

It Might Have Happened.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

At the time of the arrest and execution of John Brown and his associates at Harper's Ferry, there were many radicals in Virginia who advocated the forcible seizure of citizens of Summit and Ashland counties, Ohio, who were believed to have been instigators of Brown's party in their invasion of Virginia. At different times, rewards of $5,000 and $10,000 for Joshua R. Giddings, dead or alive, delivered at Richmond, were inserted in Richmond papers.

Virginia threatened to send an armed force into Ohio to secure John Brown, Jr., Owen Brown and others. It was finally decided to ask the federal government to do this, but that was never done. While the threats were being made, and when it seemed quite probable that either a mob, or a state-sponsored force from Virginia might try to take these men, there was an organization of strong anti-slavery supporters in northeastern Ohio, a thousand strong, that stood in readiness to act as a regiment in resistance of such a movement whether it was Virginia authorized or not.

If such an attempt had been made, whether by a federal or state force, or by a volunteer organization, a clash would undoubtedly have ensued, and probably the first overt act in the great Civil war would have taken place on Ohio soil instead of in Charleston harbor.

That Brown had many supporters in northeastern Ohio is beyond doubt. Probably many of them knew his plans in a general way. He had depositories for his arms on certain farms in Ashland county, and the bulk Money Guigler Seeks To Recover Money; Lists Charges.

Special to The Star
April 15—Another step in the settlement of the financial affairs of the Citizens National Bank of Galion, Ohio, was taken today when Attorney Carl J. Guigler, of Toledo, filed two suits in federal district court at Toledo, Ohio, which are for $25,000 each against the National Bank of New York City and the Commercial Union Trust Company, New York City, for recovery of money on the basis of a check cashed by the bank and Miss Mary O. Volk, of Galion, Ohio.

The suits charge abstraction of money and other personal property belonging to the bank and the recovery of $227,890.66 which was given detailed accounts of the bank's financial condition. The suits were filed July 1, 1930, and the work of adjusting the affairs of the institution is being done by A. E. Evenson, of Galion, Ohio, and the depositors a dividend of 20 per cent on their deposits.

Mt. Gilead Musician Graduates at Oberlin

Reception To Follow Recital by Miss Elsie Rule at Oberlin.

Miss Elsie Rule, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rule of Mt. Gilead, will present her graduating recital in piano in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music tonight.

She will play a difficult program opening with a dance suite by Bach-Bauer, "Partita in B Flat" which includes an "Allemanda," "Sarabande," two "Menuets" and a "Gigue," "Eine Kleine Gigue" by Mozart, a Brahms ballade and an intermezzo, the Chopin Ballade Opus 23, Schumann's "Fantasie" and "Vals-Caprice" by Schumann, and the Beethoven sonata III, opus 69.

Miss Rule is a student of Prof. W. K. Breckenridge. On Dec. 11 Miss Rule and Miss Beatrice Merriam of Carrollton gave a two-piano recital.

Following the recital Miss Rule assisted by her patrons will give a formal reception to 100 invited guests.

BETTER YEAR SEEN FOR DROUTH AREA

Outlook for Crops and Water Supply Favorable, U. S. Expert Says.

WASHINGTON, April 15—Given just a fair break, the wide sections of the country which suffered from last year's drouth will get through 1931 quite all right.

J. C. Hoyt, expert on surface water for geological survey, today said average rains during the growing season and mid-summer will be adequate, in view of the rainfall of the last six weeks, both for crops and for water supplies of communities.

On the other hand should the weather turn dry now and stay that way the serious depletion of ground water caused by the last dry season would make itself felt in dry springs, low rivers and possibly even insufficient moisture for growing plants.

His comfort against this possibility, however, rested on statistics which show that of all major drouths, since the nineties, only prevailed for two years in a row.

In spite of the lack of winter rain and snow in most sections, Hoyt said during March and April the heavy fall had soaked the soil to good depth, furnishing ample water for agriculture purposes.

CARDINGTON, April 15—A Varsity C Association was organized at a meeting of students of the high school receiving letters in athletics held Monday night in the high school building. A constitution was adopted and Kenneth Jones, Robert Van Sickle and Mildred Sellers were named a committee to arrange for the presentation of names of candidates eligible for membership. The next meeting will be April 27.

CLASS MEETS

First United Brethren Church Groups Hear Program.

Booster Sunday school class of the First United Brethren church, of which Miss Katie Croner is teacher, met last night at the community house.

The meeting opened with the class singing "Brighten the Corner Where You Are." Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck, president of the class, read the devotionals. During the business session a pledge was made by the class to help support the church building fund.

Mrs. Ida Uscapher had charge of the following program, "Singing Altogether" by the Booster quartet, reading "The Little Hunchback" by Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck, piano duet, "The Mocking Bird," by Mrs. Iva Fox and Mrs. Minnie Van Asbeck, a talk by Mrs. Carl V. Roop, song "Play a Ping" by the Booster Quartet and prayer by Mrs. Carl V. Roop.

Games and contests were engaged during the social hour and refreshments were served by the BOOSTER SOCIETY.

HEAR CALL

Lure of Spring Lands Trio in Hands of Officer.

GALION, April 15—Lure of the big outdoors and a dislike for study are responsible for three school youths being taken in custody by Officer Moody in the wee small hours today. The lads will be returned to Mansfield authorities this afternoon Chief of Police Cook stated.

Beauford Schoenfeld, 17, his brother Orville, 13 and Willard Johnson 15, residing near Mansfield, left home Monday, according to their story and headed for Chicago. They did not like school and didn't like the idea of being sent to Lancaster, a gesture threatened by the truant officer.

PRES. HOOVER PLANS NO VACATION TOUR

Trip Here for Memorial Dedication Longest Planned This Summer.

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Hoover probably will spend his entire summer in Washington, keeping his week-end free of engagements, however, for trips to his Rapidan fishing camp.

In making this announcement today, officials said present indications were that Mr. Hoover would not take his proposed trip through the national parks and that he had no intention of establishing a summer White House at his home in Palo Alto, Calif.

He will go to Marion, Ohio, to dedicate the Harding memorial on June 18. He will also make an address before the Republican Editorial association at Indianapolis and one dedicating the Lincoln tomb at Springfield, Ill. on the same trip. He plans to return to Washington after the Springfield speech.

The Rapidan camp has been set in order for a presidential visit this week-end. The fishing season in Virginia opened on April 1, but Mr. Hoover has been unable to get away from official duties long enough to cast a line in the Rapidan since that time.

CLASSIS CLOSES TWO-DAY SESSION

Students Are Given Licenses To Preach at Bucyrus Meeting.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 15—Michael J. Eckert and Henry A. Blum, students at Central seminary at Dayton, who will be graduated this spring, were given their licenses during the Tuesday afternoon session of the eighth annual session of Central Ohio Classis, Ohio synod. Reformed church, which will close today noon after a two-day session. Rev. W. E. Huber, Crestline, presided during the ceremony. Both young men are given their licenses to preach the gospel and perform ceremonies pending their ordination.

During the course of the afternoon session, which was devoted to the transaction of business, C. E. Frederick of Upper Sandusky was reelected as treasurer to serve another year.

October 6 was set as the date of the annual one-day fall classis to be held in Columbus. The date and place for the 1932 spring classis will be set during this morning session.

Dr. Josias Friedli, acting president of the Mission House at Plymouth, Wis., delivered the sermon Tuesday night having as his subject, "An Expectant Church." Rev. F. R. Carlmann of Sulphur Springs, president, and Rev. W. F. Lahr of Waldo, read the scripture lesson. Rev. W. A. Aispaugh of Lancaster offered prayer.

The classis closed at noon today with a luncheon at the church following a morning devoted to business.

DEPRESSION CREDITED WITH AT LEAST ONE BENEFIT

CONDEMNED MAN GRANTED NEW TRIAL

Supreme Court Orders Re-hearing of Brown County Murder Case.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 15 John Zeller, under death sentence in the Ohio penitentiary for the murder of Robert Clemmons, Brown county farmer, was given a new trial by the Ohio supreme court today.

Reversal was ordered because the trial court had permitted the introduction of certain testimony concerning statements made by Charles Cramer, an accomplice, in the presence of Zeller to which the witness said Zeller made no reply. Cramer was executed last Nov. 10. His home was at Hamilton, O. Zeller, 24 years old, lived at Louisville, Ky. Fred Davis of Cincinnati, and Charles Johnson, also were indicted in connection with the crime. Johnson is serving a life sentence.

The crime was committed last May 13, when the quartet aroused Clemmons at night to help them with their automobile, which they claimed had broken down. Thus luring the farmer from home, they shot him, believing he had a large amount of money on his person.

would like to add to his dead-end that one last star of your approval of what he has done."

He recalled that he had risked his personal fortune in Bethlehem on every occasion up to 1918. From 1901 to 1907 he worked without salary. In the next 12 years it was $50,000 annually. From 1921 to 1929, as chairman of the board, he was paid $150,000, and in 1930 the board of directors, without his knowledge, raised it to $250,000 a year.

"Now," he said, "I'm damned if I ain't going to get a salary commensurate with my services."

Unfractional Effect

The bonus system, he said, was an incentive to effort. In one year the plan added about $1,600,000 to the $12,000 salary of Eugene G. Grace, president of the corporation. He added that he had placed Mr. Grace "on a pedestal," so that he would live up to his position and that he believed, with the late Andrew Carnegie, it was necessary to make men feel big and act big to accomplish big things.

Tabulation of the vote probably will be completed tomorrow, but even then it will remain secret until the final order of the court is delivered.

OFFERS CONTRACT

Mt. Gilead School Board To Rehire Superintendent.

MT. GILEAD, April 15.—H. L. Ford, superintendent of the local schools for the past two years, was offered a three year contract at a meeting of the board of education Monday night. He has not accepted the new contract which specifies the same salary he now receives, but has indicated that he will accept it in a short time.

As under the state law no teachers may be hired until May 1 the board has not yet acted on any applications. Few resignations are expected this year, school officials state. No resignations have yet been presented to the board and only one or two are expected.

UNITARIAN PASTOR IS LABOR SPEAKER

Dr. Ben F. Wilson Addresses Marion Workers at Central Hall.

Dr. Ben F. Wilson, Unitarian minister of Erie, Pa., spoke to a large audience in Central Labor Union hall last night. He explained his views on the failure of churches to take a constructive leadership in aiding the working classes of the world to gain a larger share of the world's wealth. Dr. Wilson called for a more thoughtful study of the needs of the masses and said that the political party serving the greatest number will be the one to succeed. Power and utilities will be the question of the next election, according to Dr. Wilson, and not prohibition as the masses will be told.

Dr. Wilson will speak before labor unions in Columbus Thursday and Friday and will go to Louisville for a lecture Saturday night. He will fill the pulpit of the Unitarian church in Louisville Sunday.

NAME DEGREE TEAM CAPTAINS

Montgomery Grange Plans for Initiatory Work at Meeting.

Degree team captains were chosen by the Montgomery grange No. 2326 at a meeting at the grange hall last night. Worthy master, Earl H. Miller, presided at the meeting.

H. E. Barnhouse was chosen to lead the first and second degree team, while Guy Roux will head the third and fourth degree team. LeRoy Anderson, legislative agent, gave a report of the work of C. A. Dyer of the Ohio State grange. A tableau committee including Mrs. Mary Thibault, Mrs. Mildred Anderson and Mrs. Edna Cates was chosen last night. Singers that were selected to sing during the summer months are Mrs. Florence Rhoades, Mrs. Donna Ferne, Mrs. Cora Barnhouse, and Mrs. Grace Kennedy.

The following program was given in honor of Sanders day: Song by the grange, "America the Beautiful," reading, "The First Arbor Day," by Miss Thelma Shirk; reading, "Do Apple Seeds Point Up or Down," by Miss Lucille Miller; duet, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," by Mrs. Grace Kennedy and Mrs. Cora Barnhouse, accompanied by Mrs. H. E. Barnhouse on the mandolin; reading, "America's Greatest Asset," by Mrs. Mildred Anderson; reading, "Anticipation," by Chester Shirk; reading, "Historic Trees of Ohio," by Mrs. Charles Smeltzer, and song, "My Wife," by Homer Barnhouse. The program closed with the entire assembly by singing, "The Grand Old Tree."

The next meeting will be in two weeks at which time Salt Rock grange will have charge of the program.

guardia, before proceeding to Logtown.

When they were near the place the insurgents, who had prepared an ambush, opened fire from behind, killing Captain Peley and wounding a Guardia and Selsor, who died later. A fight followed and after a while the insurgents withdrew, the guardia picking up their dead and wounded and returning to the commissary reported the fight to Puerto Cabezas.

Enemy Bombed

Marine corps planes bombed the insurgents Sunday morning, enabling the guardia to improve its position. The insurgents, it is reported, attacked many farms, killing everyone except their sympathizers, who were identified by red handkerchiefs when they were around their necks.

The bodies of victims were chopped into small pieces with machetes and the heads impaled on fence pickets. All buildings and bridges were burned and rails torn up. The gunboat Asheville arrived here early Tuesday morning. Its failure to land a detachment of marines immediately to reinforce the guardia here caused dismay among both Americans and Nicaraguans, who are in fear of another attack from the insurgents, who are numerous and well armed.

Coolidge Mentioned as Speaker Prospect

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 15.—Calvin Coolidge was suggested today, perhaps seriously, as a "dark horse" candidate for the speakership of the house to succeed Nicholas Longworth.

Representative Johnson, Republican of South Dakota, said there is no constitutional mandate that the house elect a speaker from its own membership though such always has been the custom.

"It looks like there might be a deadlock in the closely divided house lasting for weeks," he said. "Anything might happen. If we cannot agree on a colleague why not go outside? There are plenty of prominent men who could be selected, such as former President Coolidge."

Miners of Six States Protest Lewis as Head

By United Press. ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 15.—Delegates from six coal mining states convened here today to protest against the administration of John L. sent today to the second annual conference of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

More than 1,100 women, in an executive session restricted to those favoring repeal, heard chairman of their organization in six states report that in two years their groups had exceeded the membership of the 50-year-old Women's Christian Temperance Union.

All six used the corresponding district memberships of the W. C. T. U. as a yardstick. The states reported this growth were New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri and Connecticut. It was reported for the District of Columbia also that its membership was 2,051 or about 100 more than that of the temperance group.

Among the reports was one from Pennsylvania, announcing the projected raising of a $3,000,000 anti-prohibition fund. It said the organization's 28,700 members had worked against generational plans of Gifford Pinchot, "but the bootleggers were too strong for us; they were powerful enough in Pennsylvania to vote Mr. Pinchot in."

The Michigan report said that in the year since the organization was started it had gained 30,000 members, or "more than twice the 14,300 membership figure of the W. C. T. U." A five-fold increase was announced from Virginia.

New York reported a membership of 91,251 or "double the membership of the W. C. T. U." while the Missouri enrollment was said to have exceeded that of the temperance organization in the first four months of effort. Connecticut likewise announced its workers had more than doubled the list of the rival group.

ESTELLE LIKELY TO FILE DIVORCE ACTION

Marital Breach Slowly Widens Between Dempsey and Actress Wife.

By The Associated Press. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 15.—The breach between Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor widened a little today as Miss Taylor announced, with slight reservations, that she had decided to file a divorce suit here "very soon."

By way of reservation, the actress intimated that a reconciliation was not an impossibility and that she might yet exercise her prerogative of changing her mind.

Miss Taylor, who is now interested in an operatic career, made the announcement after the former world's heavyweight boxing champion had issued a statement from Reno, that he was there to establish residence for the purpose of divorce, at her request.

One shred of hope for reconciliation rested in an unconfirmed report that Dempsey was returning to Hollywood immediately.

"I feel," she said, "that within the next 48 hours there will be some message from Dempsey."

What result it might have on her intentions to file suit, Miss Taylor did not say, but added:

"I have left the matter with my attorney. The complaint will be filed whenever he thinks necessary, but there isn't going to be any delay. I have made up my mind not to linger longer, and to see the protection of my home in the courts. Jack started this, I didn't."

"A sensational divorce would injure my career, and I need to work. I will include as little as possible in my complaint. I don't know yet whether I will ask for alimony."

Fined $300 on Guilty Plea to Liquor Charge

Harold Hall, 21, of 357 Oak street, pled guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, in municipal court this morning and was fined $300 and costs by Judge William R. Martin.

Hall was unable to pay the fine and was returned to jail. He was taken in a raid by police today at 1:05 a. m. who reported finding a quantity of liquor in a pint bottle.

SUES FOR $25,000

By United Press. CLEVELAND, O., April 15.—Arthur Morningstar, a burial plot salesman was named as "a love pirate" in an alienation suit on file today in common pleas court. Charles M. MARKS ANSWERS MAYOR'S CHARGES learn. I have had no instructions whatsoever from either the mayor or safety director despite the fact that I solicited their advice and cooperation.

"The mayor claims I failed to prefer charges where violations of the law were within my personal knowledge. This I deny and state that I have been guided always in my conduct by advice from the city solicitor and police court prosecutor.

"The mayor alleges that I have failed to advise myself of the duties of my position. This I likewise deny. I have studied my job and I am still studying it and if permitted to retain it will ever continue to study it. Neither the mayor nor the safety director ever offered to sit down and review with me the duties of my office or a plan of procedure of any kind.

"The mayor alleges that I have failed to exercise proper supervision of the officers under my charge and control to the end that efficiency might be promoted in the department. I can only state that I have supervised and controlled the officers within my power under the conditions which existed during the probationary period.

"I have served in the navy and in the army and in the National Guard, and feel I know something about discipline and training and handling of men. In addition to this, I have handled engineering construction jobs so I anticipate no trouble in maintaining discipline of officers under me and commanding their respect and obedience.

"The mayor alleges I have failed to assume and discharge the duties of my position. This is a mere general accusation but one which I flatly deny.

"The mayor further alleges that my inactivity has been detrimental to the discipline essential to the efficiency of the department and if continued would destroy the discipline of the department. In answer to this charge of the mayor, I have probably been far more active than his honor realizes and have acquainted myself with facts and conditions which will be of great benefit in my conduct of the department if permitted to retain office. Until I have the cooperation and respect of my superior officers, namely the mayor and the safety director, I have necessarily been conservative in my conduct of the department. With the expiration of the probationary period and should your honorable commission withhold approval of the mayor's proposal to dismiss me from the service, I look forward to cooperation and respect from my superior officers, namely the mayor and the safety director, and with that I am certain that I can administer the duties of my office in a creditable manner.

"Permit me in closing to say that if your commission retains me in office I am confident that the safety director will accord me the cooperation needed to put into effect a real organization of the department and the handling of police matters with dispatch and upon a business-like basis."

$23,000 in Jewels Taken in Cleveland Holdup

By International News Service. CLEVELAND, O., April 15.—Thief of jewelry valued at $23,000 from Herman Sagman, New York jewelry salesman, during a holdup in his room at Hotel Hollenden yesterday was revealed by detectives today.

After he entered the room and locked the door, two men stepped from the bathroom where they had been hiding, and covered him with guns, according to the detectives' report.

He has been manager of a restaurant in St. Louis for five years. His father, William H. Preston, is sheriff at Palmyra, Ky.

CANDLE LIGHTING SERVICE PRESENTED

Grand Prairie Grange Presents Ceremony at Progressive Meeting.

The candle lighting service of the Marion county granges was taken by Grand Prairie grange to Progressive grange at a meeting last night. On April 21 Progressive grange will take the service to the Kirkpatrick grange and also will present a program.

The third and fourth degrees were exemplified by the Grand Prairie grange degree team last night on a class of candidates. R. N. Lovett, master of Pomona grange gave a talk on grange work and E. A. Williams, county deputy, explained the grange declamation contest. A meeting of Pomona grange was announced for Saturday night at the Mt. Olive grange hall in Green Camp.

Mrs. C. L. Bish, Miss Alma Click, W. T. Mack and A. U. Click were appointed to sing in the county-wide chorus which the granges have under way. The teachers in the grange will present a program at a meeting April 28. Mrs. O. E. Barks, Mrs. Samuel Wolfinger and Mrs. Alpheus Gruber served refreshments. Visitors were present from Kirkpatrick, Mt. Olive, Grand Prairie and United granges.

3D DISTRICT COURT TO HEAR APPEALS

Judges To Consider Three Cases in Session Here Thursday.

The third district court of appeals will convene in the courtroom Thursday to consider three cases.

The three cases scheduled to come before the court are Charles Seckel against the state, the matter of the Raichley will, and an action of Sabback against Weeber, all on error.

One of the most interesting cases to come before the court will be Charles Seckel's attempt to obtain an appellate court order to free him from a sentence given him in common pleas court for allegedly stealing money from Mrs. Amanda Smith at Caledonia Sept. 11, 1930.

The Raichley will matter was brought to the appellate court by the executor of the Burr Raichley estate.

The action of Michael E. Sabback against William J. Weeber in error, is the outgrowth of a common pleas court action in which Weeber sued Sabback to collect money on three trade acceptances for $62 each.

Two Lima City Employees Charged with Bribery

By International News Service. COLUMBUS, O., April 15.—Forgery and bribery accusations were made against two street department employees in Lima by State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy today following a special examination of the city's records.

Herman Geiser, superintendent of the department, and Richard Davis, payroll clerk, were charged with having misappropriated $4,434.95 of the city's funds in a report made public by the auditor.

most hard-fisted soldier, although a Republican, had asked to be allowed to see the Republican government's guarantees of safe conduct carried out, and he had chosen 25 picked men for the job. They rode in the express train to prevent any possible attacks on the royal family by extremists during the journey.

In the meantime the new government announced that tranquility reigned now throughout all Spain. All ex-patriates have been invited to return to Madrid. The artillery, which was the first army corps to adhere to the revolution, arrived today to help in preserving order, but there was apparently no need for it.

Large throngs of people filled the streets again, continuing their joyous celebrations of yesterday. The new government had decreed a national holiday and all business houses and schools were closed. Red, yellow and purple banners were everywhere. Royal statues had all either been thrown down or draped with the Republican colors during the night. Republican colors draped the door of the palace.
